Todd McKinney as "Magic Man" has been performing magic and comedy since the tender age of twelve. What started off as a hobby for a young boy many years ago has since turned into a very successful full time "career" as one of the most popular performers in magic today. He is also one of only a handful of entertainers who travels each day and those travels have led him to performing in virtually every city in Texas as well as a few areas including Oklahoma. These days private parties, company functions, store promotions, school assemblies, library programs, church functions and festivals fill his busy schedule.

In being an entertainer, Todd McKinney as "Magic Man" gets most of his joy from being able to put a smile upon the face of everyone in the audience. While not all events are the same, one thing that always remains true is his unique ability to keep the audience "tuned in" with laughter, amazement, fear and surprise. From "producing a dozen silks from thin air" to "performing an impossible prediction using the entire audience", each show has something special to offer all ages. Every performance includes lots of audience participation and a guaranteed good time for all. Volunteers (members from the audience) are asked to join in and take a real live part in the show. The volunteers get to see and even feel the "magic" take place in their own hands; which makes for a truly unbelievable experience. The use of special effects, colorful props, exciting music and state-of-the-art sound helps to make each show a sight to see and hear in itself.

Todd McKinney as "Magic Man" is a member in good standing with the Texas Association of Magicians and a proud supporter of the World Alliance of Magicians. He has completed both the Comedy Kidshow Clinic and the Creative Kidshow Conference for professional entertainers who work with children. Some of his many accomplishments include: starring in a commercial for Allen Samuels Auto Group to boost new car sales and also being chosen to run a magic camp for kids at McLennan Community College in his hometown during the summer. Having received many accolades from clients as well as other entertainers proves that he has earned his spot as a multi-talented performer.
